Owing to pressing family engagements, and in obedience to the imperative call of duty at home, Adjutant Symmes has re signed his position. The Kentuckians part with him with deep regret. His modest and manly virtues, his soldierly qualifieations and his carnest devotion to the ause of Southern independence had endear ed him to allihearts. He bears with him the est wishes of the entire command, and should Kentucky ever be engaged in this intestine strife we expect to hear of the name of Symmes as foremost in the fray. [Correspondence of the Louisville Courier.] FRANKFORT, KY., May 15, 1861.

Editors Louisville Courier: In a company of gentlemen this morning, the question was asked as to who the author of this correspondence was. Although the matter of it was flatteringly spoken of, yet I was a little chagrined to know that it was attributed to J. Birney Marshall, Eq. I in Justice to that gentleman, I beg to say that the authorship attaches not to him, but to another branch of the "Marshall" family. During my ramblings yesierday, I had the pleasure of meeting with the Hon. Jno. C. Breckinridge, who is in the city on business. The Senator is in fine health, and looks as though he had a dozen campaigns in him yet. FRANKFORT, KY., May 15, 1861.

We have the promise of a little accession of strength in the House to-day, caused by the late dispatches from Missouri. In the invading and imprisoning Missouri, will not arouse our Legislature to a sense of

are constantly drilling and acquiring a degree of efficiency that will be eminently serviceable in time of action. Batteries are being planted so as to command the approaches from Maryland, and, if we have but half a chance, any attack can be successfully resisted. I do not imagine, however, that there will be any invasion of Virginia soil until after the State votes on the secsion ordinance. That will be almost unanimous, save in a few of the Western Abolitionized counties.

The times we are having are not so luxurious as those at home, but all bear up bravely and cheerfully. One spirit alone animates the troops at this post, and that is resistance to the death. We may possibly be driven away, but not until Harper's Ferry is a complete ruin and one stone shall not be left upon another. As a strategetical point this is of vast importance to Virginia and the Confederate States, and it is not probable that it will be given up without a deadly struggle.

The companies from Kentucky have all been mustered into the service by Captain Carr, of the regular army. The commands of Captains Crossland, Bowman, Harvey, Lapicile, and probably Pope, will act as a batallion under Col. Duncan. Capt. Desha and his men intend serving independently and not make the repeated and his men intend serving independently and not make the repeated and his men intend serving independently and not make the repeated the sentence of a solution to him, and the sentence of the commands of Captains Crossland, Bowman, Harvey, Lapicile, and probably Pope, will act as a batallion under Col. been planted over there, Boone county would not have been done voting for the Union yet. As it is, we part with that gentleman with regret, for he has seen service in many a well fought battle. Others who have flickered have less reason for doing so than he.

In the House, this morning, the Speaker laid before the House the reply of Gen. Buckner, in response to a resolution calling for "estimates for the military defense of the State." The General says that, in his judgment, not less than three millions of dollars will accomplish any good—that there are between 80,000 and 100,000 troops in camp in States mound us, many of

there are between 80,000 and 100,000 troops in camp in States ground us, many of whom are acting under the authority of the United States, while Kentucky has not in the field a single soldier to support the policy that the Legislature may adopt.

He recommends the calling into camp for drill the active militia—placing on foot sufficient batteries of light artillery—a small number of cavalry—instructing a large reserve corps, and collecting supplies and munitions of war. Referred to Military Committee.

The House took up the special order, being a bill providing for a suspension of specie payments as reported yesterday.—House refused to dispense with its third reading, but made it special order for tomorrow, when it will pass.

On no joy the sublime to the ridiculous. On motion, it was ordered that the substitute and amendments be printed and made the spe cial order for Thursday next, at 12 M. amend, patch up, and tear down the bill, I apprehend a heated discussion to-morrow. Judge Underwood will speak something less than two days, as usual.

I notice in this morning's Commonwealth an article pointing out the names of certain States Rights members, who it asserts misrepresents their constituencies, because their counties gave a quasi vote for some sort of a Union. It wilfully forgets, however, to state that for a similar reason, its pet, John Rodman, Esq., misrepresents the people of Franklin county, the people thereof in majority, not voting for his Union, and said county having elected at Union States Rights man for Counts.

The Senate this morning had under consideration a bill to change the time of the meeting of the General Assembly. Senators Simpson, Andrews, and Whittaker advocating, and Senators Cissell and Grover opposing its passags. During the pending of the discussion the orders of the daycame up, disposing of a further consideration of the bill for to-day. No other measure of moment was considered in the Senate. Some excitement, however, was create.

ted by the current rumor that several Seators, heretofore steadast and firm in their devotion to the Union, had actually seceded. Among others, I will mention the name of the Senator from Hardin, who is reported to have annexed himself to the antidiluvian kingdom of "Fossiis," and the Senator from Hart is announced, as well as his attachment to the Province of "Walton." The Senator from Owen, though heretofore favorable to a Southern Government, foregoes none of his previous predilections in asserting a decided partiality for the "Dynasty of Grover."

The great questions of difference here between the two parties on the military question is, as to who shall constitute the Military Beard which pure also said dislesiring to place it clsewhere. Another cause of difference is relative to the organization of Home Guards, and arming them. I shall give you further revelations to mor-

INDIANA, May — '81.

Editor Louisville Courier.—You will find the following extract of a speech delivered by Abraham Lincoln, in the House of Representatives on the 12th of January, 1818, in the appendix to the Congressional Globe, 30th Congress, 1st session, page 94.

"Any people anywhere being inclined, and having the power, have the right to rise up and shake off the existing Government and form a new one that suits them better.—This is a most valuable, a most sacred right—a right which, we hope and believe, is to liberate the world. Nor is this right confined to cases in which the whole people of an existing government may choose to exercise it. Any portion of such people that can, may revolutionize and make their own of so much of the territory as they inherit. More than this, a majority of any portion of such people may revolutionize, putting down a minority intermingled with, or near about them, who may oppose their movements. Such minorities was precisely the case of the Tories of our own Revolution. It is a quality of revolutions to to go by old lines or old laws, but to

There are thousands of true and brave men in Indiana to-day, who oppose the "war policy" of Lincoln; yet they dare not let that opposition be known.

No doubt, that, from the newspaper reports, it is thought that Indiana is a unit, in favor of "coercion." It is true all the papers and speakers were for their safety, connedled ciner to change their sentiment.

Mr. Justice Nelson was present at these conversations, three in number, and I submitted to him each of my written communications to Judge Crawford, and informed Judge C. that they had his (Judge Nelson's) sanction. I gave you, on the 22d of March, a substantial copy of the statement I had made on the 15th.

I left that with you, and was to have an answer the following Monday (1st of April.) On the 1st of April I received from you the statement in writing: "(I am satisfied) the Government will not undertake to supply Fort Sumter without giving notice to Governor P." The words "I am satisfied" were for me to use as expressive of confidence in the remainder of

On the 7th of April I addressed you a letter on the subject of the alarm that the preparations by the Government had created, and asked you if the assurances I had given were well or ill founded. In respect to Sumter your reply was, "Faith as to Sumter, fully kept—wait and see,"—In the morning's paper I read, "An authorized messenger from President Lincoln informed Gov. Pickens and Gen. Beaureard that provisions will be sent to Four orized messenger from President Lincoln informed Gov. Pickens and Gea. Beauregard that provisions will be sent to Fort Sumter, peaceably or otherwise by force."—This was the 8th of April, at Charleston, the day following your last assurance, and is the evidence of the full faith I was invited to wait for and see. In the same papers I read that intercepted dispatches disclosed the fact that Mr. Fox, who had been allowed to visit Major Anderson, on the pedge that his purpose was pacific, employed his opportunity to devise a plan for supplying the Fort by force, and that this plan had been adopted by the Washington Government, and was in process of execution. My recollection of the date of Mr. Fox's visit carries it to a day in March. I learn he is a near connection of a member of the Cabinet. My connection with the Commissioners and yourself was superinduced by a conversation with Justice Nelsen. He informed me of your strong disposition in favor of peace, and that you were oppressed with a demand of the Commissioners of the Confederate States for a reply to their first letter and that you desired to avoid it if possible at that time.

I told him I might perhaps be of some service in arranging the difficulty. I came to your office entirely at his request and without the knowledge of either of the Commissioners. Your depression was obvious to both Judge Nelson and myself.—I was gratified at the character of the coansels you were desirous of pursuing and much impressed with your observation that a civil war might be prevented by the success of my mediation. You read a letter from Mr. Weed to show how irksome and responsible the withdrawal of troops from Sumter was. A pertion of my comter from Mr. Weed to show how irksome and responsible the withdrawal of troops from Sumter was. A portion of my economication to Judge Crawford on the 15th of March was founded upon these remarks, and the pledge to evacuate Sumter was less forcible than the words you employed. These words were: "Before this letter reaches you (a proposed letter by me to

WARRINGTON NAVY YARD, May 5, 1861.

A daring and successful attempt wa made last night to obstruct the channel entrance of the bay, so as either to close it to the ships of war, or to compel them, if they attempt to come in, to do so in dangerout proximity to Fort McRae. I believe the credit of this idea is due to Capt. Lovell, of the Quitman Artillery, of Natchez, formerly one of the most active, emicient and promising officers of the United States Navy. It had been intimated by the officers of the squadron outside, that a blockade of this port would commence today. In view of this, and of the danger of the ships attempting to come in, whilst our forts and batteries were engaged with Pickens, the plan was adopted of buying some vessels at Pensacoia, and sinking them in ens, the pian was adopted of buying some vessels at Pensacola, and sinking them in the channel. To Capt. Lovell this duty was assigned and promptly executed. A brig was brought down from Pensacola, and night before last a large detail from the army were employed in throwing heavy stones into her hold. This consumed nearly the whole night.

In the meanting Commander Pansham

In the meantime Commander Ranshaw. In the meantime Commander Ranshaw, Col. Stephens and Captain Lovell, and a party of officers, proceeded in one of the little steamers to the channel, and by sounding ascertained the proper place to sink the vessels, and placed buoys by which it could be ascertained. They were observed by the sentinels on the ramparts of Pickons, an alarm was given and for Pickons, an alarm was given and the could be ascertained. served by the sentines on the ramparts of Pickens, an alarm was given, and the drums beat to arms, but they had accomplished their object and returned safely. Last night a large force was set to work on the vessels again, and by midnight they were all got ready. Capt. Loveli's company, sixty muskets, were the only armed men in the party.

any, sixty indiscess, were the only armed men in the party.

A large brig and three large scows heavily loaded with stones, were fastened to the two little tug steamers, and under the command of Capt. Lovell, assisted by Commander Renshaw, and superintended by Col. Stephens, Chief of Engineers, were then noisalessly conveyed about two miles out towards the point where the obstruethen noisalessly conveyed about two miles out towards the point where the obstructions were to be placed. They passed very near to Fort Pickeus, but excited no alarm. Having reached the scene of their operations, prompt measures were taken to sink the vessels. This was done by scuttling, and the brig and three scows were just thirty-five miautes in sinking.

Capt, Renshaw, with his little tug, remained until the vessels had entirely disappared; but the men on the steamers mained until the vessels had entirely dis-appeared; but the men on the steamers expected every moment to hear the whiz-zing of the big shot from Fort Pickens, or from the fleet which lay about a mile off. There was not, however, the slightest indi-cation on either the fort or snips of ary eation on either the for or ships of all y knowledge or observation of what we going on. At daybreak the party in command of this expedition returned to the yard safely, greatly to the relief of the whole camp and of the dwellers in the yard, who apprehended that an attempt to sink the vessels would draw the fire of the fort and bring on the action before our side

The railroad to Montgomery is now com-plete, running through, and the difficulty of transporting the big columbiads no lon-ger exists. The importance of an early as-sault upon Fort Pickens is fally appreci-ted by everybody here. The delay, though this produced so much restiveness and impatience among the troops, has been un-voidable. The Confederates here had to done, and how well it has been done; but the formation, support, and effective or ganization of an army is not the work of a week, a month, or of six months.

Washington, May 14.

The report was freely circulated to-day, that Federal troops were being advanced on Harper's Ferry from the Ralay House and Chambersburg, Pa. It was occasioned by the dispatch of additional Massachusetts troops from the Ralay. It is not likely that such demonstrations will be made without simultaneously breaking the line of the rebel forces from this point, by throwing the Federal army between Richmond and the Ferry.

The course of the Government in Virginia, very much depends on the action of the Wheeling Convention.

Now, dear madam, I do not think Kentucky less leyal and chivalrous than of yore. Revolutionary blood flows within my own veins, and I would fair think the same spirit that animated our sires, lives, though latent, within the breasts of many of those around us. Yet, we love peace rather than war. We love our venerated mother-government — she who gave us birth—The Union. And our paternal sire, Washington — who of us loves not his memory? So, for their sakes, we hesitate to instrue our hands in a brother's blood.

While the mass of that party are composed of the purest and best of our people, these deceivers would still our instincts to help the injured, until we are made powerless, then will we stretch out our arms in vain either to help the South or ourselves. For some weeks past, however, the applicant, convinced by the aggressive measures of the Administration of its coercive policy and the consequent hopelessness of attempts to preserve the Union, has strongly advocated the co-operation of Kentucky with the other States in a Southern Confederacy. On Saturday last, we believe, the had-been applicant received a letter from the influential gentleman, above alluded to, informing him that he, (the influential gentleman had learned that the application had been considered and the office given to him, but significantly adding that several bitter secession remarks had been attributed to him and asking if he indorsed or approved the sentiments in question. The supposition unquestionably was, that the language would be disavowed and the sentiments repudiated for the office, and the influence of an able man thus secured to the Administration. It was not supposed that any one would have virtue enough to stand by

A large quantity of powder was discovred in the new building occupied by the kew Jersey troops previous to their going nto camp. No Government officer knew mything of it, or how and when it came here. A keg of pewder has also been discovered in one of the basement rooms of the Patent Office, which had not been used for some time. The powder seemed to have been there for some time, and is nearly worthless. Orders have been issued for a strict search of all public buildings, and a more stringent guard of them.

It is said that great discontent prevails among the military mob at Harper's Ferry. A serious and bloody rew occurred a day or two since, in which one or more of the Kentucky volunteers of Blanton Dancan's squad were killed and others wounded. Following this was a threat by Duncan to disband his squad and return home. Indignation is expressed by Virginians that Governor Letcker by his preclamation has prohibited the exportation of all kinds of provisions from Virginia for any purpose. The weather continues clear and and three feet at Portland in the previous 24 hours. The weather continues clear and pleasant, and was cool last evening.

At Cincinnati at noon yesterday it had fallen sixteen inches, and at Pittsburg it

The Cumberland, at Nashville, yesterday, was at full tide again, with water enough in the channel to float the largest sized man-of-war.

The river trade in all directions is very dull owing to the unlawful blockede by the dull, owing to the unlawful blockade by the Lincoln administration. That act has thrown thousands of boatmen out thrown thousands of boatmen out of employment, at a time that they can the least bear it. The great mass of them during the summer months are compelled to be idle, owing to the suspension of navigation by low water, and the usual cessation of the properties of the control of gation by low water, and the usual cessation of the river trade during that period.

Now is the time most valuable to them, as they would, by their next two months' wages, be able to lay up enough to keep themselves and families through the usual idle summer months. The edict of the Northern despot, however, has gone forth, the boats are compelled to the up, and their officers and crews thrown out of employment to starve themselves, in order to let the Government enforce its righteous, Christian and mageanimous design of starving the South. We are a law abiding, Union loving citizen, always ready to yield prompt and cheerful obedience to any and all lawful enactments, but the blockade of our

The Trio, that came in from Nashville The Trio, that came in from Nashville, has laid up. She had a consignment of to-bacco for the East, to be forwarded by rail from Evansville. While at that place she was seized by a company of foreign soldiers, who, however, committed no other outrage than a forcible detention of the boat for six or eight hours. The plea for thus stopping a free boat, on a free river, sailing under the United States laws and the American flag, the fing that the howling Abolitionists of the North say has been insulted, was, that said soldiers did not want the officers of the Trio to meet and communicate with a boat expected down the river, so as to warn the Captain that they were lying in wait to seize and pillage they were lying in wait to seize and pillage her. All these high handed, piratical acts, are done against law abiding people who are sailing under the American flag, yet never a word has been said against its desc-cration by the North. The Louisville, hence for N. Orleans, in cuarge of Capt. Holeroft, was detained at Evansville, and the army at that point refused to let her proceed with a lot of hay she had on board. A U. S. officer, however, at the intercession of the Captain, went on the boat to Cairo in charge of the load of heavy to see if an arrangement could not be hay, to see if an arrangement could not be made at that point by which the boat might be permitted to carry said hay to market. We have not heard the result.

[From the Kentucky Statesman.] Camp Clay-The Kentucky Regi-ments-A Vile Imposition.

ments—A Vile Imposition.

COVINGTON, May 8, 1861.

Messrs. Editors: You have doubtless seen much in the Cincinnati papers of the Kentucky regiments forming in this vicinity, and of the famous fellows who compose them. I had my doubts upon the subject, but feeling determined to get some satisfaction, I went on yesterday to Camp Clay in company with a friend, to view for inyself the "noble corps." It made me profase; I am not given to profanity, but when the State of my nativity is viley libelled and shame is thrown upon mate me product, I am not given to pro-fanity, but when the State of my nativity is vilely libelled and shame is thrown upon her, I confess the curses spring unbidden, and the sun does not go down upon my wrath. Such a set of unmitigated scap-graces I never witnessed as were formed in rank and file at Camp Clay. I doubted whether there were fifty Kentuckians in the whole crowd that then and there walked "two and two, Newgate fashion;" or if they be Kentuckians, they are cer-tainly those who have "left their country for their country's good." My impression is, and it is confirmed by those I have talked with, that the great body of the recruits are river hands, coffee-house loaf-ers, vagabonds, and thieves. You rememrecruits are near hands, conce-nouse non-rers, vagabonds, and thieves. You remem-ber a madman met Falstaff's corps and told him he had unloaded all the gibbets and pressed the dead bodies.

A madman would teil Col. Guthrie that he had overed writen doors and record e had opened prison doors and pressed te inmates. "The villains march wide the inmates. "The villains march wis betwixt the legs as if they had gyves on they are the cankers of a calm world and a

From Washington.

Washington, May 15.—Gen. Butler's Baltimore proclamation has been emphati-cally approved by Gen. Scott. It is probable that Marshall Kane, of Baltimore, will shortly bearrested.

A spy has been arrested, having dispatches concealed in the panel of his carriage for Gen. Lee, of Virginia, the rebel It is understood that the Government is fully prepared to protect the Union men of Northern Virginia at any moment when its Northern Virginia at any moment when its assistance is invoked.

Washington, May 15.—The assurances that the Administration is vigorously prosecuting its measures against the insurrectionary States have a substantial basis.—All the members of the Cabinet, together with the President, are animated by a common principle in furthering the plans for the consummation of the Government's policy. Increased stimulus, however, was applied to-day. A committee of promipolicy. Increased stimulus, however, was applied to-day. A committee of prominent gentlemen from the city of New York had a long interview with them and the result was their censent to accept the services of fourteen additional regiments from New York. This meets with the concurrence of Lieutenaut General Scott. The Committee urges were propured and effect. rence of Lieutenant General Scott. The Committee urges more prompt and effective measures with no halt in the proceedings, and it appears from their private conversations, that the supply of money to support that increased force is a matter which should occasion no concern to the Administration.

From Harrisburg. HARRISBURG, May 15.—Col. Anderson arrived here this evening. He remained but a few moments. A large number of the members of the Legislature, Governor Curtin, and others were present; also an immense concourse of people, and twelve companies of artillery from Camp Curtin. The Col. was greeted with loud cheers He stated to Governor Curtin that John C. Breckinridge would join him at Cincinnati to take a command under him. This announcement creates a profound and gratifying sensation among all classes.

Col. Anderson also stated that the European steamer yesterday brought a large quantity of improved arms, for the Federal Government, and each succeeding steamer will bring more. He expresses the utmost confidence of the final success of the Federal arms, and a re-construction of the Union on the original basis of the Federal arms, and a re-construction of the Union on the original basis.
